BOSTON CREDITOR Files Objection to Putnam Man's Discharge from Bankruptcy.

Through failure on the part of the petitioner to present himself Saturday morning, at the hearing set before Judge A. J. Bowen, referee in bank-ruptcy, the application of Morris Diamond of Putnam to be discharged from bankruptcy was continued for another month in order that the objecting creditors might have ample time to have Diamond properly summoned into court for an examination. Diamond, who is residing in Providence, R. I., formerly conducted a dry goods store in Putnam, failing a few months ago, with liabilities of $2,150.79 and assets of $1,510.56.

with liabilities of $2.156.79 and assets of $1.510.56.

Attorney Samuel Carver of Boston, representing Sol I. Cohen of the same city, an alleged creditor for $400, was present Saturday morning and filed his specifications for objecting to Diamond's discharge from bankrupty. The same set forth the fact that the bankrupt, with intent to conceal his financial condition, destroyed or failed to keep books of account or records, from which such condition could be clearly ascertained, and that while solvent, both prior and subsequent to the petition in bankruptcy having been filed, said bankrupt paid to preferred creditors moneys that were rightly the property of all creditors.

It is also alleged that prior to the filing of the petition the bankrupt immediately transferred or concealed or permitted to be removed or concealed large quantities of property with intent to hinder, delay or defraud his creditors. Attorney Carver expressed that the same sequence of the peace, was arraigned in police court Saturday morning before Judge William A. Arnold. Through his attorney. Thomas J. Keiley, he entered a plea of not guilty to both counts. The case was continued to Tuesday.

Sam Siegel, arrested Friday afternoon, charged with assault and breach of the peace, was arraigned in police court Saturday morning before Judge William A. Arnold. Through his attorney. Thomas J. Keiley, he entered a plea of not guilty to both counts. The case was continued to Tuesday.

Sam Siegel, arrested Friday afternoon, charged with assault and breach of the peace, was arraigned in police court Saturday morning before Judge William A. Arnold. Through his attorney. Thomas J. Keiley, he entered a plea of not guilty to both counts. The said that she is a start of the peace, was arraigned in police court by a young lady who is believed to be his betrothed. It is believed to b property of all creditors.

It is also alleged that prior to the filing of the petition the bankrupt immediately transferred or concealed or permitted to be removed or concealed large quantities of property with intent to hinder, delay or defraud his creditors. Attorney Carver expressed the confidence that he would prove these allegations and said that he personally desired to question the bankrupt, and for that reason the referee continued the case for one month.

As a guarantee that Diamond will be an hand next time a caplas will be lessued and given to a United States marshal to serve upon him at his home in Providence, R. I.

WHALERS DEFEATED. Local Team Scores 8 Runs to Visitors'

7 in Saturday's Game. Saturday for anoon's game on Windham field between the Whalers of New London and Mayor Dunn's Colts was one of the most classy exhibitions of the national game given in the Thread City in many months. A good sized crowd of enthusiastic fans gathered.

The game opened badly for the home nine, as New London succeeded in getting two runs across the pan in the opening half of the first inning. Willimantic scored one in her half and the second inning was a blank for both, but the third was most heart-reading for the rooters, as the Whalers got to Harris in great style and sent three more runs across the plate. Willimantle was blanked again and the fourth saw another run added to the visitors' total, making six to one. The Colts could not score in the last of the fourth. could not score in the last of the fourth.

whole game and another thing that made the game so interesting was the exceptionally find umpiring of M. F. Sullivan, the veteran catcher, who formerly played with the old Norwich team in the Connecticut leagus. Sullivan has a line voice and followed every play very closely and did not permit the play to get away from him. You could hear his voice bellowing out decisions clear up to the State Normal school on Windham and Valley streets. Burns for New London played a sensational fielding game for the visitors, as did the entire bunch from down the line. The fans are particularly the line. The fans are particularl joyful over the winning of the gam when in the earlier stages it appears to be lost beyond reclaiming. The score and summary:

Runs Spindle Through His Hand.

A. B. Cunningham, city editor of the Chronicle, met with an accident Saturday afternoon and as a result has a badly inflamed and sore right hand. While sitting at his desk a spindle file that was upon the window seat came near falling out of the window and in the endeavor to prevent it Mr. Cunningham drove the sharp spindle through his hand. The point penetrated between the second and third fingers at the fist knuckles and came out through the palm. He went to the office of a surgeon and had the wound burned out and dressed. Mr. Cunningham is also foreman of the operating force of the linotype room and will be hampered in repairing the machines for a time. Runs Spindle Through His Hand.

Keeping at the Top. A good ounch of fans accompanied Dunn's Colts to New London Sunday afternoon and saw the game in that sity against the Whalers at Cannonball park. The Colts are at the top and intend to stay on that rung of the ladder and thereby win the pennant for the season of 1910.

What Marriage Should Mean. A man who marries for the sake of what his wife can do for him is not doing what he ought to do for the woman he marries. That marriage so far as he is concerned begins as a fail-ure, whataver it may come to be in ure, whataver it may come to be in time. A young man writes thought-lessly to an acquaintance: "I expect to take a better half. I need someone to help me. I hope this young lady will prove a prize to me." The real question for that young man is whether he will prove a prize to the young lady. Marriage ought to mean to him a God-given opportunity for service to the woman he loves. To be one and not two, to live day by day the together life, instead of the apart lives; to cherish enemess of alm and faith and work; to give and not to get, in loving service each for the other—that is marriage. A young man who thinks of marriage as anything less than this will be something far less than a prize to the woman he marries.—Sunday School Times.

English ballrooms." It is said that the edict of banishment has been agreed upon the "British Association of Teachers of Dancing" (so glad they do not call themselves "Professors"), and at the recent annual conference of the society prizes were awarded to those new dauces, round and square, which are characterized by gliding and graceful movements, and in which horseplay is impossible.

It is impossible to think of dances in which horseplay would be impossible for those who are given to indusing in horseplay. For example, there has never been a dance so fundamentally characterized by graceful, gliding movements as the waitz. Yet reflect a moment on what has been done to the waitz in recent years, even in some of our lest circles, Those who have waiched some of the alleged best dancers have seen a hop-skip-and-jump performance, consisting mostly of intermittent, erratte jumps suggestive of St. Vitus dance. This could scarcely be termed "horseplay." for it carred more resemblance to the pastime of a kangaroo or a jack rabbit, But it has been the "classy" style of waitzin; and persons who attempted to do their waiting with something of its triginal grace were designated "old fashloned" and "antiquated" by the up to date set.—Providence Journal.

Congratulations to Mr. Bryan. Any sympathy for Mr. Bryan in his defeat by his party in his own state would be misplaced. He runs to be releated, as other men run to be elected, and comment on his defeats should be inspired by this consideration. This defeat in his own state, of course, is in the regular line of
